

Here's the information you'll find under:

www.kerpen.com

- Specifications and tender texts
- Planning documents
- Certificates
- "Link Matrix"
- Warranty programme
- References
- Technical articles
- Certification programme "KERPEN Trained Networker"
- Seminars and roadshows
- Up-to-date information

If you save on the cabling ...

In network installation, the passive cabling only accounts for about 5 % of the costs, whereas the active components have a share of 7 %. About one third of the costs (34 %) are invested in the workstation and the software swallows up the lion's share with 54 %.

Taking into account that the passive cabling has a product lifetime of 15 years, it's clear for all to see:

If you save on the cabling, you're saving in the wrong place!

